

Music E- bulletin

Welcome to our new school year! On the first day of class, school rules and expectations will be discussed. The teacher will divide students into 5 groups. Students will create their own songs, raps or skits dramatizing each of the rules that should be followed in class. Each group will then present their own act to the class. This activity will help students think critically about different rules that should be followed in the music classroom in order to have a productive learning environment.

Activities

This year students will be able to know the principal musical figures of time, interpret musical pieces on the recorder with a basic difficulty level, recognize visually and aurally the different musical instruments and identify the musical characteristics of Puerto Rico and Dominican Republic taking into account its origin, evolution, musical instruments, and representatives. Students will also play the recorder in important flag ceremonies. This will be an exciting new year full of creative activities that will enhance students' learning and comprehension about music. I am very happy to share my knowledge with my students and motivate them to learn about the wonderful art of music.
