

9th Grade World Literature

Ms. Hemm is so pleased with the first marking period of the year! Her students are motivated and excited to learn and improve!

Students finished reading Seedfolks and are now are working on two projects. First, they are writing their own chapters of Seedfolks, based on their lives.

Students improved their writing skills by composing thank you letters to the cleaning and maintenance staff. We will continue to work on formal writing, grammar, and oral presentations.

Students will continue to learn the importance of community and diversity by creating their own community garden, here at New Horizons. They will also learn to share their stories and experiences through writing.

At the end of the marking period, students will embark on their journey to Africa, reading the great Nigerian novel, Things Fall Apart and watching the movie The First Grader.

Projects
