

Colegio Bilingüe New Horizons

Our Strongest Conviction is Academic Excellence

Accredited by New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC)

New Horizons Honor Code

Students' Responsibilities:

- Promote and work towards fulfilling the school's philosophy, mission, and vision.
- Be honest. Honesty is a quality that is highly valued and respected among the staff and students at New Horizons.
- Be courteous, maintain good manners, and respect other students, teachers, parents, and school personnel.
- Be accountable for your actions. Controlling and expressing needs and emotions appropriately is expected from all students.
- Work responsibly, respectfully, and cooperatively with the desire to be a lifelong learner.
- Completed assignments are to be turned in on time.
- Be comprehensive towards others, showing at all times respect for their differences.
- Contribute actively to community activities both within and outside of the school.
- Be a good listener and encourage others to succeed.
- Respect and take care to use correctly all of the school's property including his/her own.
- Help maintain the school clean and in order, both inside the classrooms and outside demonstrating respect for the environment.
- Respect all norms and rules stated in the Guide for Parents and Students and the Discipline Manuals.
- Respect the school uniform, flags, and anthems as symbols of New Horizons.

Parents/Guardians' Responsibilities:

- Promote and work towards fulfilling the school's philosophy, mission, and vision. Encourage your child to fulfill the school's philosophy, mission, and vision.
- Be knowledgeable about the school policies, and encourage your child to follow them.
- Promote your child's adherence to and compliance with all the provisions of the Guide for Students and Parents and of the Honor Code.
- Express concerns, questions, and/or comments through appropriate school procedures.
- Attend all PTA meetings, and other activities organized by the school.
- Support and transmit the moral, civic, and human values of the school and society at large to your child.
- Be courteous, exhibit good manners, and respect all school personnel and other parents.
- Be informed about your child's curricular activities and other pursuits.
- Continuously support your child's education and actively participate in his/her learning and developmental processes by consistently checking your child's work, through the agendas, notebooks, and report cards printed or published on the web.
- Respect the norms stated in the Discipline Manuals and the decisions taken by the Disciplinary Council.

Teachers and Staff Members' Responsibilities:

- Demonstrate loyalty towards the school's philosophy, mission, and vision.
- Be honest. Honesty is a quality that is highly valued and respected among the staff and students at New Horizons.
- Be courteous, maintain good manners, and respect other teachers, parents, students, and school personnel.
- Promote positive relationships between students.
- Conduct yourself in an ethical manner. Handle all situations respectfully, confidentially, and according to school regulations.
- Develop and maintain positive morale and discipline throughout the school. Act as a positive role model and guide.
- Create a supportive, safe learning environment.
- Encourage students to become life-long learners and transmit high expectations for all the students.
- Foster understanding and respect for different cultures and learning styles.
- Promote environmental consciousness.
- Promote learning for all students through a variety of educational resources, methods, and styles of instruction.
- Collaborate with parents and other school personnel to closely follow the academic performance and the discipline of students.
- Communicate relevant information to parents through appropriate school procedures.